About the Organizer	The People's Public Security University of China (PPSUC) is a comprehensive university that operates under the Ministry of Public Security. It is the first institution in the national public security system to offer regular higher education and master's degree programs, as well as being the only one to offer doctoral programs. PPSUC has the most complete range of disciplines and majors, the largest number of curricula, and the most comprehensive educational programs among public security universities across the country. Additionally, it is the only public security university included in the national initiative to develop world-class disciplines. PPSUC fosters both academic education and on-the-job training, and has established a comprehensive talent development system and a distinctive police training system. Since 2004, the university has been conducting foreign police training programs, gaining extensive experience in training management and building strong teaching and research resources. To date, PPSUC has trained over 1,600 foreign police officers.
Training content	Main arrangements for the program: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. China's national conditions</li> <li>2. The police system in China</li> <li>3. China's police culture</li> <li>4. Cooperation in Police Law Enforcement in China</li> <li>5. Overview of the World's Mainstream Policing Models and China's Experience</li> <li>6. International Governance in Cyberspace</li> <li>7. The Belt and Road Initiative and Police Law Enforcement</li> </ol> The training program integrates classroom discussions with field visits, and will organize trips to Tianjin for on-site research. Additionally, the program will arrange visits to landmarks such as the Palace Museum, the Great Wall, and the Summer Palace, where participants can immerse themselves in China's rich history and culture. Through this program, trainees will gain a thorough understanding of China's national conditions and policing practices. This will provide valuable insights for their own country's development and establish a solid foundation for law enforcement cooperation and exchange between China and other countries.
